

2001 NORTH KOREAN STUDY DAY

(organised in conjunction with the British Museum Education Department)

This was held on 24 November, 2001, at the British Museum, in conjunction with the Education Department. Seven papers were given:

'Britain and the DPRK, one year on', by Dr James Hoare, British Embassy, Pyongyang (text attached)

'Let the past serve the present - Tombs of the founding kings in the DPRK', by Mrs Beth McKillop, British Library

'Twentieth-century painting in the DPRK', by Mr Kim Myong-chol, National Gallery of Art, Pyongyang

'Dancing for the Eternal President', Dr Keith Howard, SOAS

'Koguryo wall paintings in the DPRK', by Mr Han Chang-gyu, Korean Central History Museum

'Collecting North Korean art', Mrs Jane Portal, British Museum

'Contemporary film in the DPRK', Dr Hyang-jin Lee, University of Sheffield

NOTE: Papers have been edited for printing and publication is imminent. An account of the visit by the two North Korean visitors to Oxford is attached.