

2004 STUDY DAY: KOREA IN THE NEW MILLENNIUM: SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

(organised in association with the Asia, Pacific and Africa Collections of the British Library)

Saturday 3 April 2004, British Library conference centre

Thomas Cieslik (Mexico City) 'Communication technology in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea and its impact on society'

James Dator (Honolulu) 'Korea as a wave of the future in democracy and culture'

Ruediger Frank (Vienna) 'Telecommunications regulation in South Korea and Japan: a comparative approach'

Ok-kyoung Kim (Sheffield) 'Women's articles and commentaries on the Internet in relation to "Gobaldung" (conflict between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law) in Korea'

Jiyeon Lee (London) 'Korean contemporary art: at the eye of the hurricane of change'

Rowan Pease (London) 'The Internet and Hanliu (the Korean vogue) in China'